SENATOR LODGE'S SPEECH

Addresses the Republican Convention as Permanent Chairman,

Says His Party Redeemed the Country From the Chaos Brought About by Cleveland-The Gold Standard Maintained to Protect the National Credit-Flag of the Union Made to Float Over the Islands of the Atlantie and the Pacific-The Glory of the Victory Over Spain-Promises Continuation of Prosperity.

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia June -Following is the speech of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts as Permanent Chairman of the Republican National Con-

"One of the greatest honors that can fall to any American in public life is to be called to preside over a Republican National Convention. How great that honor is you know, but you cannot realize, nor can I express, the gratitude which I feel to you for having conferred it upon me. I can only say to you, in the simplest phrase, that I thank you from the bottom of my heart. Beggar that I am I am ever poor in thanks, and yet I thank and who is soon to enter upon his second term. Since the Civil War no Presidential term has been so crowded with great events as that which is now drawing to a close. They have been four memorable years. To Republicans they show a record of promises kept, of work done, of unforessen questions met and answered. To the Democrats they have been generous in the exhibition of unfuifilled predictions, in the ruin of their hopes of calamity, and in futile opposition to the forces of the times and the aspirations of the American people. I wish I could add that they had been equally instructive to our opponents, but while it is true that the Democrats, like the Bourbons, learn nothing, it is only to evident that the Democrats is and the deadly peril. Sound currency and a steady standard of value are today safe, only in Republican hands.

"In 1897 we took the Government and the country from the hands of President Cleveland. His party had abandoned him and were joined to their idois, of which he was no longer one. During the last said that we would settle finally the Hayears of his term we had presented to us the melancholy spectacle of a President trying to govern without a party. The traditional American policy has been carried out. The flag of the Union floats totrying to govern without a party. The result was that his policies were in ruin, legislation was at a standstill, and public affairs were in a perilous and incoherent condition. Party responsibility had vanished, and with it all possibility of intelligent action, demanded by the country at home and abroad. It was an interesting but by no means singular display of Democratic unfitness for the precical work of government. To the political student work publican President and the Republican President and the "We replaced this political chaos with a President in thorough accord with his party, and the machinery of Government began again to move smoothly and effectively. Thus we kept at once our promise of better and more efficient administration. In four months after the inauguration of President McKinley we had passed a Tariff bill. For ten years the artificial angulation bill. For ten years the artificial angulation which seemed so huge when we still linbill. For ten years the artificial agitation in behalf of what was humorously called tariff reform, and of what was really free trade, had kept business in a ferment, and had brought a Treasury deficit, paralyzed industries, depression, panic, and, finally, continuous bad times to a degree never become used to a degree of the trade, with a triumphant outcome startfore imagined. Would you know the result of our tariff legislation, look about you! Would you measure its success, recollect that it is no longer an issue, that our op-ponents, free traders as they are, do not their turn a pledge and a proof that what we promise we perform, and that the people who put faith in our declarations in 1896 were not deceived, and may place the same trust in us in 1990. But our pathway has never lain among dead issues, nor have we won our victories and made history by delving in political graveyards. We are the party of today, with cheerful yesterdays and confident tomorrows. The living present is ours, the present of prosperity and activity in business, of good wages and quick payments, of labor emwages and quick payments, of labor employed and capital invested, of sunshine in the market place and the stir of abounding life in the workshop and on the farm. It is with this that we have replaced the depression, the doubts, the dull business, the low wages, the idle labor, the frightened capital, the dark clouds which overhung industry and agriculture in 1896. This is what we would preserve, so far as sound government and wise legislation can do it. This is what we brought to the country four years ago. This is what we offer now. 'Again we promise that the protective system shall be maintained, and that our great industrial interests shall go on their way unshaken by the dire fear of tariff agitation and of changing duties. Again we declare that we will guard the national credit, uphold a sound currency based on gold, and keep wages and quick payments, of labor emwe will guard the national credit, uphold a sound currency based on gold, and keep the wages of the workingman and the enterprise of the man of business free from that most deadly of all evils, a fluctuating standard of value. The deficit which made this great country in a time of profound peace a borrower of money to meet the current expenditures has been replaced by abundant revenue, bringing a surplus, due alike to prosperity and to wise legislation, so ample that we can now safely promise a large reduction of taxation without imlarge reduction of taxation with periling our credit or risking a resort to

"In the Philippines we were met by re-

of the great body of the peaceful inhabitants of the islands who have trusted to us to protect and guard them. Such an event would be an infamy. Is the Government, is the House, to be given over to a party capable of such a policy? Shall they not rather be entirely to be party. to a party capatite of such a poincy? Shall they not rather be entrusted to the party which will sustain the Army and suppress the brigands and guerrillas who, under pretence of war, are now adding so freely to the list of crimes committed in the name of liberty by usurpers and protend-to the list of crimes committed in the name of liberty by usurpers and pretenders, and who, buoyed up by Democratic promises, keep up a highwaymar s warfare in hope of Democratic success in November? It is for the American people to decide this question.

"Our position is plain. The restoration of peace and order now so nearly reached in the Philippines shall be completed. Civil government shall be established, and the people advanced rapidly as possible along the road to entire freedom and to self-government under our flag. We will not abandon our task. We will neither surrender nor retreat. We will not write failure across this page of our history. We will do our duty, our full duty, to the people of the Philippines, and strive by every means to give them freedom, contentment, and prosperity. We have no belief in the old slaveholders' doctrine that the Constitution of its own force marches into every newly-acquired territory, and this doctrine, which we cast out in 1890, we still reject.

"We do not mean that the Philippines doctrine, which we cast out in 1850, we still reject.

"We do not mean that the Philippines shall come without our tariff system or become part of our body politic. We do mean that they shall, under our teaching, learn to govern themselves and remain under our flag with the largest possible measure of home rule. We make no hypocritical pretence of being interested in the Philippines solely on account of others. While we regard the welfare of these people as a sacred trust, we regard the welfare of the American people first. We see our duty to ourselves as well as to others.

Trade Expansion.

Trade Expansion. "We believe in trade expansion. By every legitimate means within the province of Government and legislation we mean to stimulate the expansion of our trade and to open new markets. Greatest of all markets open new markets. Greatest of all markets is China. Our trade there is growing by leaps and bounds. Manila, the prize of war, gives us inestimable advantages in developing that trade. It is the cornerstone of our Eastern policy, and the brilliant diplomacy of John Hay in securing from all nations a guarantee of our treaty rights and of the open door in China, resuppon it. We ask the American people upon it. We ask the American people whether they will throw away these new markets and widening opportunities for trade and commerce, by putting in power the Democratic party, who seek under cover of a newly discovered affection for the rights of man to give up these slands the rights of man, to give up these islands in the East and make Dewey's victory "The choice lies between this Democratic rane choice hes between this Democratic policy of retreat and the Republican policy which would hold the islands, give them freedom and prosperity, and enlarge these great opportunities for ourselves and our posterity. The Democratic attitude toward the Deliterative of the control of the co Philippines rests wholly upon the proposition that the American people have neither the capacity nor the honesty to deal rightly with these islands. They assume that we shall fail. They fall down and that we shall fail. They fall down and worship a Chinese half-breed whose name taey had never heard three years ago, and they slander, and cry down, and doubt the honor of American soldiers and sailors, of admirals and generals, and public men who have gone in and out before us during an entire liftetime. We are true to our own. We have no distrust of the honor, the humanity, the capacity of the American people. To feel or do otherwise is to doubt curselves, our Government and our civilization. We take issue with the Democrats, who would cast off the Philippines because the American people cannot be because the American people cannot because the American people cannot be trusted with them, and we declare that the American people can be trusted to deal justly, wisely, and generously with those distant islands and will lift them up to a higher prosperity, a broader freedom, and a nobler civilization than they have eve, known. We have not failed elsewhere. We shall not fall here known. We have not failed elsewhere. We shall not fail here.

"Those are the questions we present to the American people in regard to the Philippines. Do they want such a humiliating change there as Democratic victory counted platforms, the prodigal spendthrift of words, the champion of free silver, the counts; or whether they will maintain in the Presidency the Union soldier, the leader of the House of Representatives, the trained statesman who has borne victoriously the heavy burdens of the last four years; the champion of protection and sound money, the fearless supporter of law and order wherever the flag floats?

Republican "Prosperity."

"But there is one question which we will be proceeded with as in case of default. Do you not know from recent and bitter experience what that arrest of movement, that fear of the future, means? It means the contraction of business, the reduction of employment, the increase of the unemployed, lower wages, hard times, distress, unhappiness. We do not say that we have panaceas for every human ill.

"In the Philippines we were met by rebellion, fomented by a self-seeking adventurer and usurper. The duty of the President was to repress that rebellion, to see to it that the authority of the United States, as rightful and as righteous in Manila as in Philiadelphia, was acknowledge and obeyed. That harsh and painful duty President McKinley has performed firmly and justly, eager to resort to gentle measures wherever possible, unyieding when treachery and violence made force necessary. Unlike the opponents of expansion we do not regard the soldiers of Otis and Lawton and MacArthur as 'an enemy's camp."

They drive the disease back into the system, cover it up for a while, but it breaks out again in worse form. These poverful minerals produce mercurial rheumatism and the most offensive sores and ulcers, causing the joints to stiffen and finger nails to drop off. Mercury and potash make wrecks, not cures, and those who have been dosed with these drugs are never after free from aches and pain.

S. S. S. acts in an entirely different manner, being a purely vegetable remedy; it forces the poison out of the system, and instead of tearing down, builds up and invigorates the general health. S. S. S. is the only antidote for this specific virus, and therefore the only cure for Contagious Blood Poison. No matter in what stage or how hopeless the case may appear, even though pronounced incurable by the doctors, S. S. S. can be relied upon to make a rapid, permanent cure. S. S.
